Creator History

Michael Korie is a New York City based librettist and lyricist. Born in 1955 in Bergen County, New Jersey, Korie studied music as a child. After attending Brandeis and New York University, Korie worked as a journalist at the Village Voice where he reported on the New York City gay scene.

Korie collaborated with composers Stewart Wallace and Scott Frankel on a number of operas and musicals. After hearing a recording of songs written by Korie, Wallace contacted Korie with an idea for a satirical opera that became Where's Dick?. Wallace and Korie premiered Where's Dick? in 1989 at the Houston Grand Opera. Their opera Kabbalah was staged that year as well as part of the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival. Wallace and Korie returned to the Houston Grand Opera in 1995 with their premiere of Harvey Milk, which was commissioned by Houston Grand Opera, New York City Opera, and San Francisco Opera. Korie later adapted the novel The Grapes of Wrath to a libretto, with music written by Ricky Ian Gordon. The Grapes of Wrath premiered at the Minnesota Opera in 2007.

Korie wrote the lyrical score for Grey Gardens (the musical adaptation of Albert Maysles' Grey Gardens documentary), which debuted at Playwrights Horizons in 2006. Korie and Frankel received the ASCAP Foundation Richard Rodgers New Horizons Award for Grey Gardens. The musical was nominated for ten Tony awards, including Best Musical and Best Score.

He also wrote lyrics for musicals Far From Heaven, Happiness, Doll, and Finding Neverland, all composed by Scott Frankel. In collaboration with Amy Powers, Korie co-wrote the lyrics to the 2011 Doctor Zhivago musical.

Korie has served on the council of the Dramatists Guild and received the Kleban Prize and the Jonathan Larson Award. As of 2015, Korie taught lyric writing at the Yale School of Drama and Yale College. Korie's works have been staged on Broadway, off-Broadway, and around the world with productions at venues including Minnesota Opera, Houston Grand Opera, San Francisco Opera, the Utah Symphony and Opera, and Germany's Theater Dortmund.

Scope and Content Note

The Michael Korie papers date from the 1960s to 2014 and document his career as a lyricist and librettist. The papers contain drafts of scores, scripts, and lyrics; notes and research; publicity and press coverage; programs; correspondence; posters; photographs; and audiovisual materials.

The collection documents Korie’s creative process and creative works, in draft and final forms. Typically for each production there are drafts of librettos, scores, and lyrics (some with annotations and handwritten revisions); press coverage (clippings of articles, reviews, and advertisements); and promotional materials (posters, programs).

The operas Where's Dick? and Harvey Milk, and the musicals Grey Gardens and Finding Neverland are the most well represented productions in the collection. In addition to the above types of documentation, files for these productions include larger amounts of background information, research materials, notes, and correspondence. The Harvey Milk files contain copies of newspaper articles written by Milk, multiple synopses, and Korie's interviews with those who knew Milk. Of particular interest is a copy of one of the versions of Harvey Milk's tape recorded last will and testament. A unique artefactual item from Grey Gardens is a paper restaurant tablecloth on which the original concept for the musical adaptation was drafted. There are also copies of correspondence with Grey Gardens resident Little Edie Beale.

The performance aspect of Korie’s work is also documented, specifically on working recordings, demos, and preliminary mixes of cast recordings. Additionally, Korie donated a journal containing his rehearsal notes for Grey Gardens, Doctor Zhivago, and Grapes of Wrath. Korie also assembled chronological portfolio books containing press and promotional materials for his works.

A small portion of the collection relates to his early works and his lyrics for the films The Emperor’s New Clothes (1987) and Red Riding Hood (1989). The film-related material includes demo recordings of the scores and cut songs.

A detailed listing of items included in the collection can be found as an Additional Resource.
